LEG ART WITH A CURVE LINE

by

ELMER A. BATTERS

The curvaceous legs of an attractive model encased beneath a sheer pair of BLACK SILK STOCKINGS versus legs normally associated with those of a high fashion model always provides a very provocative and interesting subject for discussion. It is with this subject in mind that we are going to discuss the beauty of leg art that stresses the curve line versus legs which are so typical of high fashion. In most magazines that are supposed to be featuring leg art it is especially a sad sight to notice the number of pictures that have completely failed to fully accentuate the curve line of the legs. Legs, especially if photographed with the front shin bone line predominating resemble fence posts that are upright and rigid, absolutely sexless. Most women have legs that are endowed with a natural curve line and hence it is up to the photographer to pose them at their best angle, stressing the view from either a side or a three quarter rear angle starting with the tip of the toes and curving all the way up to the hip line. With this curve line available in the biggest percentage of women there are numerous photographers who fail to accentuate it because they are unconcerned with the importance of the legs in relation to some minor detail. In leg art stressing the curve line it is especially true that curvaceous legs enclosed in sheer BLACK SILK STOCKINGS have the greatest eye appeal for attracting and holding the undivided attention of all concerned. Therefore, if a woman's legs are to radiate with sheer beauty it is necessary to emphasize the curve line by concealing the front shin bone line. In conclusion no matter how curvaceous the legs of an attractive girl are they will take on the appearance of a high fashion model—straight, thin, and bony—if the curve line isn't accentuated especially with a pair of sheer BLACK SILK STOCKINGS.

FASHION OR FETISHISM

by

ELMER A. BATTERS

According to Webster's Dictionary FASHION is the prevailing custom in dress, manners, speech, etc. of a particular place or time, especially as established by the dominant section of society (this is sometimes questionable). FETISHISM also according to Webster is anything held in unreasoning devotion as in many times referred to as, "she makes a fetish out of dress". No matter how you interpret FASHION or FETISHISM they both literally have the same basic resemblance. Why is it considered so fashionable to let a bunch of sissy boy dress designers, who consider themselves leaders in the field of fashion, possessing a sense of fetishism reap evil amusement from designing dresses that make beautiful girls look ugly? One of the most ridiculous fetish fashion fads ever to be introduced and accepted by women of the past was padding the stomach in order to create a fat affect, but yet at the time it was considered fashionable in accordance with the approval of the dominant section of society. In the 17th century a fetish passion was held for double chins. Another fetish form of fashion was the bustle which was quite popular less than a century ago. Currently we are suffering through the "SAD SACK" situation. We could go on stating facts about ridiculous fashions that are fetishes but instead your Publisher will continue to photograph and publish pictures of beautiful women the way they were originally created—attractive and alluring —regardless of demented fashions as created by sissy boy dress designers and worn with pride by women who seriously consider themselves as leaders in the dominant section of high society.

BAMBI—A NAME TO REMEMBER

by JOHN HOLMES

Bambi Hamilton is living proof of a quotation from one of Keat's immortal odes—"Beauty is truth, truth beauty". Bambi was born nineteen years ago in the little town of Caldwell, Idaho. Early in life Bambi became a perfectionist, first as a student, then as a skilled drum majorette, champion swimmer, and finally an accomplished equestrienne. While in Hollywood visiting her hospitalized brother she was spotted at a bus stop by John Daston, a top talent scout and one of our finest young actors. As a result of this meeting Bambi today is decorating the covers of at least a half dozen magazines—a new record even in Hollywood. As a result of her phenomenal success Bambi is soon to open her own agency—"The Bambi Modeling Agency" with offices located at B911½ Sunset Blvd. Her natural ability, plus know how is sure to start many other talented and beautiful girls up the ladder to fame and fortune.

With screen tests added to her already crowded calendar of modeling commitments and TV appearances, Bambi is one of the busiest and brightest new faces that is making blase Hollywood sit up and take notice. So look for BAMBI HAMILTON on the marquee—A NAME TO REMEMBER.

THIS IS REINA

by

ELMER A. BATTERS

Since our Editorial Policy in BLACK SILK STOCKINGS has been dedicated to the beauty and tantalizing charms displayed by curvaceous girls we are quite proud to present for your discriminating approval—REINA BONOYER. Reina is originally from Canada and since arriving in Hollywood she has been very busy replenishing the calendar girl supply which has been lagging. Besides modeling for calendars with her curvaceous figure of 38-22-35 Reina has been making several screen tests. Without saying anymore about our calendar girl we invite you to admire her pictures especially posed for our readers of BLACK SILK STOCKINGS.

IMMORTAL BEAUTY FROM PIN-UPS

by

ELMER A. BATTERS

The immortal beauty that radiates from an attractive girl in a pin-up picture lies in the eyes of the beholder. This beauty emphasized in pin-up art is basically that quality which gives the highest degree of pleasure to the sense of sight suggesting that the beauty of the girl in the picture approximates one's conception of an ideal. To capture this quality of beauty which radiates from an attractive girl has been and always will be a challenge to the aesthetic type peson even as far back as the year 900 B.C. During the year 300 B.C. when Greek culture was recognized as the epitome of aestheticism pin-up art was flourishing in the form of statues particularly that of curvaceous and beautiful women. One of the most immortal statues ever to survive from this era is now on display in the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. This curvaceous statue of the wonder woman of old Greece, "Aphrodite of Melos," or better known as the "Venus de Milo" in physical perfection was the ideal and most sought after of her day and her exploits were even more popular than any of our contemporary "goddesses" of live, sex, or femininity that flaunt around Hollywood. Today just as thousands of years ago beauty still lies in the eyes of the beholder and the desire to capture this immortal beauty for posterity is just as prevalent in photographers as it was in the sculptures of ancient Greece—900 B.C.
